Title: David C. Driskell Papers

Dates: 1800-2014 (bulk dates 1960-2000)

Collection Number: MS01

Extent: 150 linear feet

Abstract: The David C. Driskell Papers have been maintained and organized by Prof. Driskell since the 1950s and document the evolution of African American art as a practice and field of study as well as Prof. Driskell's personal life. The papers of artist, scholar, curator, collector, and philanthropist David C. Driskell measure 150 linear feet and date from 1800 to 2014. Most of the papers come from the years 1960-2000 and focus mainly on Prof. Driskell's relationship to African American art. A large portion of the collection focuses on Prof. Driskell's correspondence with various artists (many of whom are African American), museums, and institutions. These correspondences touch on both personal and professional aspects of Driskell's life. Also found in the collection are memos, meeting agendas, curatorial notes and documents, journal entries, writings, ephemera, exhibition catalogues, as well as audio, film, and photographic materials.

Administrative Information

Acquisition Information

The David C. Driskell Papers were donated to the David C. Driskell Center Archives by Prof. David C. Driskell. The majority of the materials were transferred to the Center in 2011 and the deed of gift was signed in April 2012. Once the materials were surveyed and inventoried, they were organized into 11 series. Materials were acquired by the Driskell Center Archives in three batches: the first and largest acquisition contained most of the papers and files that are included in Series 1-9. The second transfer included film and audio materials, several more boxes of files and papers, and books. Both of these transfers occurred in 2011. The final transfer occurred in 2015 which included roughly 1,500 photographs which were identified by David C. Driskell.

Separated Materials

The Driskell Papers are kept in the Archive Room at the David C. Driskell Center. Materials that are oversized or restricted in some way have been separated from the collection and housed in boxes adjacent to the main collection. These materials are described in this finding aid.

Processing Information

The collection has been processed to the folder level. The processing for this collection took place between 2011 and 2015. During the first two years, the collection was inventoried at the folder level, arranged into series and subseries, and processing was begun. As processing was completed, folder titles and other identifying information were added to the Driskell Center's PastPerfect database as well. This work was completed by the Archivists and Graduate Assistants from the University of Maryland School of Information.

While processing the Driskell Papers, paper materials were rehoused into acid-free folders, the materials arranged into chronological order within each folder, and rusty staples and paperclips were removed if deemed necessary. Completed folders were placed within acid-free Hollinger boxes. Additionally, there was an abundance of materials on Thermofax paper which were very faded and the team photocopied these to ensure preservation. In some cases, the materials were too faded and transcriptions were created to capture as much information as possible.

Preferred Citation

Restrictions

Most material is available for research by scheduling an appointment with the archive team. Some materials have been restricted following the donor's request due to their contents. These materials have been separated into "restricted boxes" and labeled accordingly.

Ownership & Literary Rights

The David C. Driskell Papers records are owned by the David C. Driskell Center. Literary rights as possessed by the donor have been dedicated to public use for research, study, and scholarship. The collection is subject to all copyright laws.

Harmful Language Statement

The Driskell Center Archives collects materials from across the 20th and 21st centuries as a part of its mission to comprehensively document the lives, works, and histories of Black artists. Therefore, we must make accessible materials spanning a range of perspectives, including those created with racist, xenophobic, or otherwise prejudiced intentions, as well as works that critique or respond to such biases. These items may have been collected by record creators and/or represent deliberate artistic choices by the documented artists to address, reclaim, or subvert offensive language and/or depictions.

The Driskell Center acknowledges that some of its collection information may contain language that researchers find harmful, offensive, or otherwise challenging to encounter. This could include finding aids, digital item descriptions, and catalog records. We strive to present all archival material in language that respects record creators, the individuals and communities documented within the collection, and researchers. If you find outdated or harmful language in our descriptive information, please contact us at archives-driskellcenter@umd.edu.

Biographical Note

Professor David C. Driskell was one of the world's leading authorities on the subject of African American art. As an artist, scholar, curator, and collector, his contributions to the field of African American art are innumerable.

David Clyde Driskell was born on June 7, 1931 in Eatonton, Georgia and grew up in North Carolina. He was raised by his parents Reverend George Washington Driskell and Mary Lou Cloud Driskell along with his three sisters. Driskell grew up in a religious home and was taught the importance of an education. In 1949, he moved to Washington, DC and in January 1950 enrolled as a student at Howard University and graduated in 1955. During his time at Howard, Driskell earned his bachelor's degree in Fine Arts and studied with James L. Wells, Lois Mailou Jones, James A. Porter, and James V. Herring. The lessons from these prominent African American art instructors have influenced Driskell throughout his life. While at Howard, Driskell worked at the Barnett Aden Gallery in Washington, DC where he later had his first major solo exhibition in 1957. In 1953, he was awarded a scholarship to study at the Skowhegan School of Painting and Sculpture in Skowhegan, Maine where he was able to hone his craft as an artist. He went on to earn his Masters in Fine Arts from Catholic University of America in 1962. He then pursued post-graduate study in art history at The Netherlands Institute for the History of Art in The Hague.

In 1955, Driskell began his decades' long teaching career at Talladega College. He taught at Howard University from 1962-1966 and Fisk University from 1966-1977 where he was the chair of the Art Department. Throughout his career he also served as Visiting Professor of Art at Bowdoin College, The University of Michigan, Queens College, and Obafemi Awolowo University in Ile-Ife, Nigeria. He joined the faculty of the Department of Art at the University of Maryland, College Park, in 1977, and served as its Chairperson from 1978-1983. In 1995, he was named Distinguished University Professor of Art and taught until his retirement in 1998. Throughout his years as an educator, Prof. Driskell has interacted with a wide range of practicing artists and art historians who continue to look to him and to value his opinion and experience.

In addition to his role as an educator, Prof. Driskell is a well-known and respected curator. Perhaps his most important exhibition was "Two Centuries of Black American Art: 1750-1950" which has been the foundation for the field of African American Art History. This groundbreaking exhibition, curated for the Los Angeles County Museum of Art, traveled the country and helped to introduce African American art into the American art canon. Other exhibitions curated by Prof. Driskell include "Hidden Heritage: Afro-American Art, 1800-1950” and “Amistad II” which also traveled around the United States. Since 1977, he has served as curator of the Camille O. and William H. Cosby Collection of African American Art. In 2001, Pomegranate Publications, Inc. published The Other Side of Color: African American Art in the Collection of Camille O. and William H. Cosby, Jr., by David C. Driskell. Prof. Driskell is a collector of African American art in his own right and in 1998 the Art Gallery at the University of Maryland organized an exhibition from Prof. Driskell’s collection; “Narratives of African American Art and Identity, The David C. Driskell Collection.” The exhibition included 100 works by such artists as Romare Bearden, Aaron Douglas, Sam Gilliam, and Jacob Lawrence and traveled to ten museums around the country.

Prof. Driskell has been recognized for his contribution to the art world on several occasions. In 2000, Prof. Driskell was honored by President Bill Clinton as one of 12 recipients of the National Humanities Medal. In 2005, the High Museum of Art in Atlanta, GA, established the David C. Driskell Prize, the first national award to honor and celebrate contributions to the field of African American art and art history. The prize recognizes a scholar or artist in the beginning or middle of his or her career whose work makes an original and important contribution to the field of African-American art or art history. In 2007, Prof. Driskell was elected as a National Academician by the National Academy. In 2001, the University of Maryland established the David C. Driskell Center to provide an intellectual home for artists, arts administrators, museum professionals, and scholars who are interested in broadening the field of African diasporic studies. The Driskell Center is committed to collecting, documenting, and presenting African American art as well as replenishing and expanding the field.

The recipient of numerous fellowships, awards, and prizes, including, three Rockefeller Foundation Fellowships and a Harmon Foundation Fellowship, Prof. Driskell has also received thirteen honorary doctoral degrees. He has lectured across the globe, and his works are included in major collections of art museums throughout the world. Prof. Driskell has authored five books on the subject of African American art, co-authored four others, and published more than 40 catalogues from exhibitions he has curated. His articles and essays on African American art have appeared in major publications throughout the world. He continues to consult on exhibitions and publications focusing on African American art.

As an artist, Prof. Driskell has been influenced by European artists such as the seventeenth-century Dutch artist Rembrandt and the nineteenth-century French painter Paul Cezanne, as well as by the African American master of collage, Romare Bearden.

Prof. Driskell focuses on several motifs in his body of work: Self-portraits; Africa and African art; Still Life; and Landscape, often depicting pine trees in styles ranging from realism to abstraction. Since the late 1980s he has often worked in collage and since his retirement in 1998, he has been experimenting with printmaking.

Throughout his lifetime, Prof. Driskell has traveled the world, exhibited his artwork in several countries, and has been a key figure in understanding the study of African American art. From his time at Howard University as a student, he has kept correspondences, programs, exhibition catalogues, meeting agendas, notes, and journals which provide an unprecedented resource of primary source materials depicting the evolution of African American art since the 1950s.

Professor David C. Driskell passed away on April 1st 2020. He was 88 years old.

Scope and Content Note

The papers of artist, scholar, curator, collector, and philanthropist David C. Driskell measure 150 linear feet and date from 1800-2014 (bulk dates 1960-2000). The content of the papers span focus mainly on his relationship to African American art. A large portion of the collection focuses on Prof. Driskell's correspondence with various artists, museums, and institutions. These correspondences touch on both personal and professional aspects of Driskell's life. Also found in the collection are memos, meeting agendas, curatorial notes and exhibition planning documents, journal entries, writings, ephemera, exhibition catalogues, as well as audio, film, and photographic materials. These materials have been maintained and organized by Prof. Driskell since the 1950s and document the evolution of African American art as a practice and field of study as well as Prof. Driskell's personal life. The Driskell Papers have been organized into eleven series based on Prof. Driskell's original order, and have been further arranged to aid the researcher.

The following paragraphs give short descriptions of the types of materials you will find within each series. The eleven series in order of their arrangement are: Personal; Educator; Exhibitions; African American Art and Diaspora; Artists and Individuals; Colleges and Universities; Museums and Galleries; Organizations; Audio and Video Materials; and Photographic Materials. For additional detailed descriptions of the series and subseries, see section titled "Series Description/Container Listing."

The Personal series includes family information and correspondence, personal writings (including marked drafts) prepared by Prof. Driskell, ephemera and clippings about Prof. Driskell (which are unrelated to an exhibition), and documentation of Prof. Driskell's company, Art Resource Technical Services (ARTS). Personal journal entries are included here and researchers will find information about Prof. Driskell's personal rather than professional life.

Materials included in the Educator series detail Prof. Driskell's life as a professor. Memos, notes, agendas, correspondence, and course catalogs are included for the institutions where Prof. Driskell taught long-term (Fisk University and University of Maryland) as well as institutions where he was a visiting professor (including Howard University).

The Exhibitions series contains planning documents, architectural blueprints, correspondence, ephemera, catalogues, curatorial notes, and newspaper clippings about exhibitions Prof. Driskell curated or in which his work or art collection were featured. These materials will be of special interest to researchers who focus on Prof. Driskell's life and history as an artist and curator.

The African American Art and Diaspora series focuses on materials that Prof. Driskell collected about the art world and African American art history. The most prominent materials are ephemera and exhibition catalogues that focus mainly on African American art; it includes material on international art as well. Prof. Driskell also kept files on artists and topics in the field of African American and African art that he was interested in, keeping track of, and continually adding to them (those files do not include correspondence). This series includes no primary source materials and is best used as a reference tool only

Artists and Individuals is perhaps the most comprehensive and largest series in this collection. Organized by artist's last name, these folders contain correspondence between Prof. Driskell and various artists, art collectors, and other individuals. The series also includes some newspaper clippings and ephemeral items.

The materials provided in the three series entitled Colleges and Universities, Museums and Galleries, and Organizations each have similar materials such as meeting notes, memos, correspondences, and ephemera that Driskell kept about institutions of these types that he had contact with. Many of these folders include information about lectures given by Driskell, committees he sat on, and his general involvement with the institutions.

The David C. Driskell Center documents include memos and agendas regarding the planning of the Center as well as ephemera about events at the Center.

The final two series were donated to the Driskell Center separated by material type and they were thus kept that way. The first of these series, Audio and Video Materials, include cassette tapes, audio reels, compact discs, a 78 rpm record, VHS tapes, film reels, and DVDs. The content of these materials vary from professional footage of interviews given by David Driskell to films he was involved in to films about African American art. The second of these series is the Photographs series which was also given separately from the paper material and was kept that way. The slides are kept in a metal slide cabinet which only contains slides. The printed photographs are organized chronologically and separated by folders indicating the years. Most of the content is reference material that Prof. Driskell used while teaching.

Arrangement

The collection is arranged into 11 series, many of which are further arranged into subseries. These series are informed by the way that Prof. Driskell arranged his own papers. The first nine series are all paper-based and the final 2 series are audio, video, and photograph materials. The materials within each series are arranged alphabetically by folder title and then chronologically within each folder.

Series Description/Container Listing

Series 1: Personal, 1954-2014

This series is broken into seven separate subseries, all of which center on David C. Driskell's personal life. As a whole, the materials in this series convey Prof. Driskell's personal relationships, interests, and everyday life. The Correspondence subseries is the largest of the seven, and perhaps one of the most interesting because it contains the personal correspondence Prof. Driskell kept between the years 1962 to 2011. The Family and Biographical Information subseries is particularly interesting because it is one of the only segments of the Driskell Papers that contains correspondence between Prof. Driskell and his family members. Generally, researchers will find that this series is a valuable resource for better understanding David Driskell beyond his career as an educator, artist, and curator. For additional information on what the individual subseries contain, please consult the subseries descriptions respectively.

The series is comprised of personal correspondence, biographical information, curriculum vitae, newspaper clippings, periodicals, ephemera, writings, journal entries, speeches, receipts, manuscripts, art appraisals, and miscellaneous materials. Some materials have been restricted to respect the wishes of the donor and to protect sensitive personal identifiable information.

Subseries 1: Correspondence, 1962-2011

This subseries consists of correspondence David C. Driskell sent and received between 1962 and 2011. As a whole, these letters chronicle Prof. Driskell's personal relationships with fellow artists, colleagues, and friends. These materials are unique to the Driskell Papers because they focus on his personal life rather than his professional pursuits. Additionally, these correspondences reveal Prof. Driskell's everyday activities, interests, and relationships.

Some of the most notable items in this subseries include correspondence between Prof. Driskell and his close friends-- many being fellow artists. Researchers interested in reading more about Prof. Driskell's relationships with artists should also examine Series 5: "Artists and Individuals." Other letters were written from former students, admirers of Prof. Driskell's work, university administrators, and in a few cases government officials. Most of these records can be found in the folders titled "General Correspondence." Researchers interested in correspondence from Prof. Driskell's family should refer to subseries 2:

"Family and Biographical Information." Some materials have been restricted to respect the wishes of the donor and to protect sensitive personal identifiable information such as social security numbers.

Subseries 2: Family and Biographical Information, 1972-1992

This subseries primarily consists of correspondence between David C. Driskell and his family between 1971 and 1992. There are also biographical statements about Prof. Driskell, his curriculum vitae, and one oral history interview. This subseries will be especially valuable to researchers interested in Prof. Driskell's family members and their personal relationships. Other items provide useful biographical information which outlines his extensive career as an educator, artist, curator, and consultant. Some of the most notable items include letters sent from Prof. Driskell's mother Mary Lou Driskell. Unfortunately this subseries does not include any correspondence between Prof. Driskell and his father George Washington Driskell.

Subseries 3: Writings, 1963-2008

This subseries contains articles, exhibition forewords, essays, speeches, and notes David C. Driskell wrote between 1963 and 2008. Materials that were not marked with an obvious date of creation have been labeled as "[undated]." As a whole, these records offer a valuable sample of the writings Prof. Driskell produced throughout his professional life.

Researchers will be particularly interested in the early drafts which include handwritten edits and notes. Some of the most notable items include five journal entries and poems Prof. Driskell wrote circa 1960-1980. Generally this subseries highlights Prof. Driskell's academic and personal interests.

Subseries 4: Art Resource Technical Services (ARTS), 1975-2002

This subseries contains materials relating to David C. Driskell's consulting business, Art Resource Technical Services, which was incorporated in 1976 and continues to operate under the supervision of Prof. Driskell. The records span the years 1975 to 2002. A majority of the subseries holds documents related to art appraisals and consultations. Researchers can also find correspondence, invoices, receipts, writings, and research materials. Most of these materials have been restricted to respect the wishes of the donor and to protect sensitive personal identifiable information such as social security numbers and art prices.

Subseries 5: Clippings and Ephemera about Prof. Driskell, 1954-2011

This subseries contains clippings and ephemera which specifically feature David C. Driskell between the years 1954 and 2011. The materials in this subseries are arranged by types (i.e. clippings and ephemera) and then chronologically. The term "clipping" is broadly meant to include newspaper articles, periodicals, and the like. The term "ephemera" denotes miscellaneous materials including flyers, brochures, pamphlets, calendars, announcements, etc. As a whole, these materials provide us with an understanding of how the press, universities, galleries, critics, etc. received Prof. Driskell's work as an educator, artist, curator, and consultant.

Subseries 6: David C. Driskell Series of African American Art, 2001-2004

This subseries contains the manuscripts, forewords, essays, introductions, and cover art for six of the eight books published in the David C. Driskell Series of African American Art. The David C. Driskell Series was the brainchild of David C Driskell and was published by Pomegranate Press. Each book in the series chronicles the life and work of influential African American artists whom Prof. Driskell knew, worked with, or admired. The artists included in this subseries include: Archibald J. Motley, Betye Saar, Charles Alton, Charles White, Faith Ringgold, and Keith Morrison. This subseries, for whatever reason, is missing materials relating to the remaining two artists in the Driskell Series: Margo Humphry and Hughie Lee-Smith. While Prof. Driskell did not write the manuscripts, he played a major role in their development and acted as the series' editor. As a whole, this subseries chronicles the development of the David C. Driskell Series and the role Prof. Driskell played in their development. Researchers will be particularly interested in the notes and edits written on each document.

Series 2: Educator, 1949-2008

This series is broken into five separate subseries, all of which center on David C. Driskell's career as an educator, mentor, administrator, and scholar. As a whole the materials in this series convey the role Prof. Driskell played in facilitating the growth of African American art curricula in academia. The two largest subseries chronicle the time he spent as a faculty member at Fisk University and the University of Maryland, College Park. Together these two subseries illustrate the significant contributions Prof. Driskell made to these schools' art departments, gallery systems, and campus communities. The remaining three subseries highlight Prof. Driskell's influence as one of the foremost authorities in the field of African American art. For additional information on what the individual subseries contain, please consult the subseries descriptions respectively. The series is comprised of general correspondence, departmental files, university communications, university catalogs, exhibition catalogues, research materials, and course materials, which include syllabi, exams, and lecture notes.

Subseries 1: Fisk University, 1949-1991

The records in this subseries chronicle the time David C. Driskell spent at Fisk University between 1966 and 1977. Prof. Driskell joined the faculty as a full professor in September of 1966 and acted as the Director of University Galleries and chairman of the Department of Art from 1966-1977. The subseries is primarily comprised of general correspondence, departmental files, research materials, records relating to the Carl Van Vechten Gallery, and course materials, which include syllabi, exams, and lecture notes. Some of the materials pre-date Prof. Driskell's time at Fisk, such as exhibition catalogues and teaching materials. Likewise, there are some records that Prof. Driskell collected after he left the University in early 1977, as he remained active in the Department of Art and University Galleries. These materials include correspondence, newspaper articles, and documents relating to the Carl Van Vechten Gallery.

Subseries 2: University of Maryland, 1976-2008

The records in this subseries chronicle the time David C. Driskell spent at the University of Maryland, College Park between 1977 and 1998. Prof. Driskell joined the faculty of the Department of Art in the spring of 1977 and served as Chairperson from 1978-1983. In 1995, he was named Distinguished University Professor, an appointment conferred on faculty members who have made significant contributions to their disciplines. In 1997, he was awarded the President's Medal, the highest honor the university bestows on community members. Prof. Driskell retired from the university with Emeritus status in 1998. During his time at the University of Maryland Prof. Driskell made a number of significant contributions to the Department of Art, including introducing courses in both African and African American art. The subseries is primarily comprised of general correspondence, departmental files, university communications, research materials, records relating to the Art Gallery, and course materials, which include syllabi, exams, and lecture notes. Some of the records also include materials Prof. Driskell collected after retiring from the university in 1998, as he remained an active member of the campus community.

Series 3: Exhibitions, 1956-2013

This series focuses on David C. Driskell's professional life as an artist, curator, and collector and his activity in the world of art exhibitions. The first two series pull together records, ephemera, and exhibition catalogues for exhibitions in which Prof. Driskell's own artwork has been featured. Subseries 3 consists of records Prof. Driskell kept about exhibitions that he curated himself while Subseries 4 focuses on the exhibition which featured his own personal art collection, "Narratives of African American Art." The records in each subseries contain correspondence, meeting minutes, ephemera, loan agreements, notes, exhibition catalogues, and other documentation of the exhibitions. For additional information on the details of each subseries, please consult the subseries descriptions respectively.

Subseries 1: Solo Exhibitions, 1956-2013

The folders in this subseries contain material related to exhibitions that featured David C. Driskell's artwork in a solo exhibition, meaning that there was no work by other artists included in the show. Materials are mainly comprised of exhibition catalogues, but some folders do include newspaper clippings written about certain shows. Folder titles include name of exhibition, gallery or space where the exhibition was shown, and year of exhibition.

Subseries 3: Curated by David C. Driskell, 1961-2011

The material in this subseries focuses on Prof. Driskell's work as a curator. In his professional life, Prof. Driskell was often hired as a curator or guest curator for exhibitions focusing on African American art. These exhibitions often traveled around the United States after their initial showing at the host institution. The exhibitions represented in this subseries are as follows: "Amistad II: Afro American Art," "Aspects of Afro-American Realism After the Harlem Renaissance," "Contemporary Visual Expressions," "Harlem Renaissance: The Art of Black America," "Hidden Heritage: Afro-American Art, 1800-1950," "Introspectives: Contemporary Art by Americans and Brazilians of African Descent," "The Art of Black America in Japan," and "Two Centuries of Black American Art." In the interest of brevity and ease of use, the title of each exhibition has been shortened for use on the folder titles. The records for these exhibitions contain correspondence, contracts/agreements, ephemera, photographs, catalogues, notes, and curatorial files. Beyond the major exhibitions listed above, this subseries also contains materials relating to smaller exhibitions that Prof. Driskell curated at Fisk University and various other institutions. There are also a number of exhibition catalogues for which Prof. Driskell wrote Forewords and Introductions. These can be found at the end of the subseries, arranged by date of the exhibition. Note that these records are not comprehensive in scope of Prof. Driskell's curatorial work.

Subseries 4: Personal Art Collection, 1901-2002

This subseries contains records of exhibitions of which the personal art collection of David C. Driskell was the focus. The only exhibition that fits this description is "Narratives of African American Art and Identity: The Collection of David Driskell" which was curated by the Art Gallery at the University of Maryland in 1998 and traveled to various museums from 1999-2001. The exhibition "Echoes: The Art of David C. Driskell" was curated in tandem with "Narratives" and that information can be found in Series 3, Subseries 1: Exhibitions: Solo Exhibitions. Materials in this subseries include correspondence, ephemera, schedules, project proposals, curatorial files, drafts of the exhibition catalogues, and copyright permission forms. Though the main focus of this subseries is the "Narratives" exhibition, there is also information about the President's Dinner and the Tribute Dinner both in honor of Prof. Driskell in October 1998.

Series 4: African American Art and Diaspora, 1901-2012

These records give light to the broad range of interest Prof. Driskell had in 20th century African American and African art and culture as well as the general world of art, history, and culture. The materials in this series consist of the resources that Prof. Driskell used to stay abreast of the issues, artists, and art that were important to him both personally and professionally. The different subseries represented portray the wide variety of items Prof. Driskell collected from various pieces of ephemera (fliers, brochures and newspaper clippings) to exhibition catalogues and artist resumes and biographies. For additional information on what the individual subseries contain, consult the subseries descriptions respectively.

Subseries 1: Artist Files, 1927-2005

The records in this subseries generally contain articles (both newspaper and other forms) related to African American artists on whom David C. Driskell kept files. Other types of materials contained in this subseries include brochures, photographic material, color reproductions, and a scant amount of correspondence. This subseries differs from Series 5: Artists and Individuals in that these files do not contain correspondence with the artists; rather, these files contain material that Prof. Driskell collected about the artist. Any further information may be obtained by contacting the David C. Driskell Archive staff.

Subseries 4: Subject Files, 1917-2009

The records in this subseries generally contain articles (both newspaper and other forms) that David C. Driskell collected relating to African American art or the African Diaspora. Other types of records contained in this subseries include brochures and press releases, along with a scant amount of correspondence. The subjects contained in this subseries are not an exhaustive list of subjects relating to African American art, but only as was collected and maintained by Prof. Driskell. Any further information may be obtained by contacting the David C. Driskell Archive staff.

Subseries 5: Black Memorabilia, [1800-1932]

This very small subseries contains black memorabilia collected by David C. Driskell as part of his research and personal collection. The material seems to have been purchased from flea markets and auctions and include postcards, advertisements, sheet music, and books that focus on African American stereotypes as portrayed through these mediums from the early 1800s through the early 1900s. Though most material is not dated, it can be assumed that they originated around these times since materials of this nature were historically produced between 1800-1930. A highlight of this subseries is a scrapbook (which seems to have been created by someone else) which compiles advertisements, images, music, and stories associated with African American stereotypes as represented in these mediums. Most items are fragile and should therefore be handled with care.

Series 5: Artists and Individuals, 1930-2012

The records in this series are representative of the relationships David C. Driskell cultivated and maintained with fellow artists, colleagues, clients, students, friends, and family. The series is primarily comprised of correspondences which reveal valuable insights into Prof. Driskell's professional and personal life. Other materials include writings, newspaper clippings, exhibition catalogues, printed materials, ephemera, photographs, transparencies, and slides. Evidence of his involvement in the art community is reflected in his relationships with prominent artists such as Romare Bearden, Mary Lovelace O'Neal, James Porter, Martin Puryear, Lois Mailou Jones, and Sam Gilliam. The bulk of the series chronicles Prof. Driskell's career as an artist, educator, and curator. There are very few materials which document his time as an undergraduate or graduate student.

Series 6: Colleges and Universities, 1941-2008

The records in this series mainly encompass material related to Prof. Driskell's lectures and appearances at various academic and cultural institutions. The institutions represented in this series range from large or better known, such as University of California-Los Angeles or Harvard University, to smaller or less known, such as Middlebury College (VT) and Lafayette College (PA). Highlights of this series include records on the many honorary Doctoral degrees that Prof. Driskell has received and information regarding the work he did in designing the stained glass windows at Talladega College's DeForest Chapel. Series contains correspondence, contracts/agreements, ephemera, agendas, photographs (including slides and negatives), catalogs, newsletters, newspaper clippings, meeting minutes, manuscripts, and institutional reports. Series does not include material focusing specifically on Prof. Driskell's involvement as an educator.

Series 7: Museums and Galleries, 1930-2012

This series documents David Driskell's relationships and interactions with cultural institutions such as museums, galleries, and establishments primarily concerned with artwork and exhibitions (e.g. community art centers, printmaking workshops, and art institutes). This series contains correspondence, writings, memoranda and meeting minutes, agendas, loan agreements and forms, invoices, notes, exhibition catalogues, announcements, brochures, invitations, newspaper clippings, articles, writings by Prof. Driskell, photographs, slides, and transparencies among other items. Highlights include materials from the Museum of African Art board of commissioners, on which Prof. Driskell sat during the planning of the museum and its subsequent construction on the National Mall as well as Prof. Driskell's own impromptu drawings which include sketches of new acquisitions from the Museum of African Art and color paintings of stained glass windows for the Reginald F. Lewis Museum. Information related to university art galleries is also located in this series, however material for art foundations, associations, festivals, projects, and informal groups can be found in Series 8: Organizations.

Series 8: Organizations, 1937-2011

The records in this series reflect the interactions and relationships Prof. Driskell had with various organizations including: the National Endowment for the Humanities, the American Federation of Arts, the Amistad Research Center, and the National Conference of Artists. Organizations represented in this series are mostly non-profit associations and groups promoting the arts, education, or both. Records also reveal interactions Prof. Driskell had with public figures such as: Presidents Jimmy Carter and Bill Clinton, Laura Bush, and various members of Congress. Series contains brochures, newsletters, press releases, proposals, catalogs, ephemera, photographs, clippings, contracts, reports, meeting minutes, published articles, art sketches, biographical sketches, art appraisals and indexes. The bulk of the material is written solicitations and promotional material about various organizations or programs. Series does not include material from educational institutions or museums and galleries.

Series 9: The David C. Driskell Center, 1997-2012

This series consists of Prof. Driskell's records concerning the David C. Driskell Center, which was founded at the University of Maryland, College Park in 2001 and named after him. This series is comparatively small, but contains ephemera about events at the Center, meeting minutes and planning notes regarding the Center and its projects, and various clippings focusing on exhibitions and receptions at the Center. Please note that the records in this series are the ones retained and donated by Prof. Driskell. For a more complete record of the Driskell Center's history and activities, please contact the David C. Driskell Center office.

Series 10: Audio and Video Materials, 1970-2009

This series is comprised of all audio and video materials that were part of David C. Driskell's collection. All recordings focus on African American art or history and most involve David C. Driskell in some way which may include him being interviewed, producing the recording, or appearing as a guest speaker.

Subseries 1: Audio Recordings, 1970-1999

This subseries includes the audio recordings kept by David C. Driskell, which primarily focus around African or African American art. The recordings are generally of interviews or lectures involving David Driskell. There are also many recordings with unknown dates, titles and/or topics. The format of the recordings are primarily audiocassettes, but also include minicassettes, 4 and 7 inch audio reels, ¼ inch tape reels, a compact disc, and a 78 rpm record.

Subseries 2: Moving Image Recordings, 1971-2009

This subseries includes all moving image materials that are part of the Driskell Papers. These materials focus on African and African American art, but particularly on films which David C. Driskell appeared in, produced, or otherwise worked on as well as raw footage that captures lectures or interviews with Prof. Driskell himself. Though many of the films came with little information about what is on them, due diligence was taken to get that information through research on what we were provided. Due to space constraints, any 8mm film reels in this collection were processed chronologically, but they are housed in the Oversize Moving Images Drawer. DVDs and Betacam videos were also too big to fit in their correct location, so they are located at the end of the series in Box 8.

Series 11: Photographic Materials, 1710-2012

Subseries 1: Photographs, 1943-2012 (902 photographs)

This subseries is comprised of photographs depicting the life of David C. Driskell. These photographs include personal and professional images ranging from vacations to exhibitions to headshots used in professional settings. This portion of the Driskell Papers was donated in 2014 as an addendum to the original donation. The materials were roughly organized chronologically and that is how they are represented here. David C. Driskell was able to give information about these photographs individually, often informing pictured people, dates, locations, and events.

Subseries 2: Slides, 1710-2004

This subseries is comprised of Prof. Driskell's slide collection which includes: slides of various artists that he had grouped together and alphabetized, slides used for educational purposes and lectures, slides of his own work, and personal photographs. Prof. Driskell organized the majority of his slide collection in a slide cabinet which was transferred to the Driskell Center and resides in the Archive. The slides have been kept there and fill the first 15 drawers, which are numbered. The slides have been arranged so that those representing the work of other artists are together, followed by the slides of Prof. Driskell's own work, then slides used for educational purposes, and finally, personal photographs. (Please see "System of Arrangement" for more detail.) Prof. Driskell did keep some slides in binders which have been kept intact and are in "Box 1" of the subseries. These binders generally include slides sent to Prof. Driskell by other artists and some include lists of slides or resumes of artists.
